ART A CITY FILLED WITH ART

At times they loom up ahead as you approach them on the street. Or they suddenly appear as you round a corner. The 14 sculptures planted throughout Newport News — each different and captivating in its own way — pay tribute to the city's police officers, celebrate the human spirit and challenge how we perceive the world and the humans who inhabit it.

Since 2000, the Newport News Public Art Foundation has been the catalyst for this unique collection of works. Inside on Pages 8 and 9, we present photos, pertinent information and locations of the sculptures, plus details of the public unveiling on Thursday of the city's 15th work of public art.
